THE NEW YORK BAR FOUNDATION WELCOMES NEW FELLOWS

The New York Bar Foundation congratulates and welcomes 24 attorneys from across the state who were elected as Fellows and have accepted this distinguished honor.

Fellows are members of the bench and bar who are recognized for outstanding professional achievement, dedication to the legal profession and their commitment to the organized bar.

“As financial contributors to The Foundation, Fellows give so that others may receive the legal assistance they deserve,” explains Fellows Chair Emily F. Franchina of Garden City (Franchina and Giordano, P.C.). “Fellows are ambassadors for The Foundation, leaders within the community and champions of the legal profession.”

Currently The New York Bar Foundation has 1,117 Fellows. The new Fellows are:

An individual is generally nominated to become a Fellow by a member of The Foundation Board of Directors or by a member of The Fellows and is elected by the full board. The number of Fellows is limited under The Foundation Bylaws to one percent of the New York State Bar Association membership in each of the state's 13 judicial districts. Each Fellow makes a financial commitment to The Foundation to support its grant making program which provides funding for law-related programs throughout the state of New York.

The New York Bar Foundation, a nonprofit, philanthropic organization, receives charitable contributions from individuals, law firms, corporations and other entities. It provides grants to further its goals of promoting and advancing service to the public, improvements in the administration of justice, legal research and education, high standards of professional ethics, and public understanding of legal heritage.
